Dear Jay:

Your show at Princeton University on May 31, 2003, which was the Saturday night of Princeton's Reunions weekend, set a new standard for that annual extravaganza. More than 15,000 people were in attendance on the campus that day, although perhaps one-third of them, in response to the electrical storm or the hour, had gone to their homes or hotels by the time your first song began. By the time your last song finished, more than two hours later, I think about one-third of the remaining 10,000 people on campus were inside our 40th reunion compound. As the show went forward, word spread quickly to every corner of the campus, and new dancers and listeners came streaming in continuously.

From my point of view, having seen you perform on numerous occasions, you, the music and the whole show were terrific, as I knew they would be. What surprised and pleased me beyond words was the response of the audience. Our very large dance floor was so packed there was no room to dance, so hundreds of people simply jumped up and down in time with the music. The atmosphere was electric. One could see tier after tier of people outside the dance floor but still enjoying the show immensely. The 40th Reunion Committee has had letters of thanks and amazement from all over the country, sent by attendees who thought your show was the most exciting and enjoyable event ever at Princeton Reunions.

Again, thanks to you and your band for journeying all the way from Las Vegas, Nevada to Princeton, New Jersey. I hope and trust that you enjoyed it as much as the audience, as there was certainly an enormous amount of very positive energy being sent your way by your listeners. I look forward to collaborating with you again on our next Jay White/Neil Diamond Show, wherever that may be.

Best wishes,
